ABOUT PHOENIX PEOPLE

This department is designed to record weekly happenings of a personal, social, musical and intellectual nature.

In the kaleidoscope pictures of existence, one finds such endless variety in the combination of character-istics; so much to study and endeavor to understand in each individual with whom one is brought in contact; so much that is really admirable and so little that is thoroughly despicable, that surely no one can say truthfully that life is stale, flat and uninteresting, though he may think it unprofitable.

One does not need to search his memory very assiduously, to recall the curious combination found in some persons, who occupy positions of importance. One man in this circumstance, over-estimates his personal and professional dignity, incases his spinal column in a sheath of ice—thus keeping any kindly, human feeling of which he may be possessed, in cold storage. Such a one when he tries to be affable, only succeeds in being condescending, with the consequence that those who come in contact with him are chilled. Repartee and humor will before him as a flower droops before the frozen breath of the north wind. Contradictory is impossible in his presence and he is disliked by those about him, even though they credit him with good intentions.

Then there is the man who with similar conditions, under-estimates the dignity of his position. His interest in his kind is so deep, his longing for companionship so great, that everybody likes him, he is every one's friend and gives freely to those who need his knowledge, his advice or if nothing more, a kindly word and a hearty handshake.

Subordinates may take advantage of his leniency at times but any one of them will seriously inconvenience himself for the man, who having lost some apparent dignity, has gained in human kindness.

Then there is the type of man whose conduct is so inflexibly perfect, that even those who love him find it difficult to live with him. This man having marked out a path of duty for himself, walks it regardless of his own personal wants or needs or the needs of those about him. He also includes in his itinerary, every little by-path of life which might be in the least conducive to his happiness. His pleasure seems to lie, however, in unconscious satisfaction over his own martyrdom. As the writer's favorite philosopher David Hume, very succinctly puts it, "There is just about as much human nature in some folks as there is in others," the others are different than this is all.

Misunderstanding of one another's viewpoint, is probably responsible for more human misery than any other thing, with the possible exception of poverty or ungovernable appetites. The idea embodied in the hymn, "We shall know as we are known, never more to walk alone," pictures a heaven that is likely to be more attractive to the ordinary sinner, than the thought of sitting in some convenient corner of the golden street, playing on a harp through endless ages of musical rhapsody.

An event which is of great interest to Phoenix people, because of the prominence of the groom and the guest and charming manner of the bride, is the wedding of Miss Alma McDonald and Dr. Edward S. Godfrey. The marriage occurred at 7:30 Tuesday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. McDonald, 1917 West Taylor street. The beautiful ring ceremony was used and the vows were recited by the Reverend Robert Fisher of the First Methodist Episcopal church. The home was decorated in valley beauty roses and the affianced couple were wedded under a canopy of fragrant blossoms. The bride was married in a traveling gown of brown and looked very pretty indeed. Mrs. Godfrey was born in Phoenix and has spent most of her life so far in this city; if one may be allowed to speak metaphorically, she is a native rose.

that has blossomed in the desert. Dr. Godfrey is the territorial health officer and vital statistician and formerly lived in the southern part of the territory. Only immediate relatives and friends of the doctor and Miss McDonald were present at the wedding and shortly after the ceremony the newly married pair left for a honeymoon at Guaymas, on the western coast of Mexico. They will make their home in Phoenix.

There will be a meeting of the civics education department of the Woman's club tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at which time there will be read the names of the members of several important committees appointed by the chairman of this department. The $11 which is this department's one-fourth of five per cent of the club dues for last year, is to be disposed of in some way. This is a very weighty matter and it is hoped the ladies will realize their responsibility in its disposition and attend the meeting. It really is a terrific handicap to have $11 to spend and places for $1100. It may be that the department dividend is not clear to some of the club members who may read this article, therefore an explanation is not untimely. It was decided to give five per cent of the club dues to the departments and the are four departments. Last year the dues of the club amounted to $900, five per cent of this or $45 went to the departments, and one-fourth of this or $11 belongs to the civics-education department. There will also be an election of a departmental treasurer at the Monday meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Fuller have entertained several times recently giving a house party to friends during the fair and a week end hop last Saturday. The Fuller home was handsomely decorated for the dancing party with festoons of pepper tree branches, the dainty red berries and the graceful, greenery of the pepper boughs making a perfect background for the red shaded lights and the beautiful gowns of the ladies. American Beauty or Valley Beauty roses as they are locally called, and dainty dark blue violets were also used in some of the rooms and made a veritable fairy land for the enjoyment of the guests. Delicious refreshments were served to the hungry dancers and excellent music furnished melody until the early hours of the morning. Mr. and Mrs. Fuller's guests were Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Brooks; Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Kitt; Lieut. and Mrs. Stanley Kock; Mesdames E. S. Kimball; John Metz;

Harvey J. Lee and Miss Jessie O'Connell. Mr. Mark Smith; Major Heard; Capt. Brechan; Capt. Miller and Mr. W. S. Sturgis.

PHOENIX WOMAN'S SUCCESS
The following letter is quite explanatory and will be pleasing to Mrs. Baptist of this city and her many friends:

Chicago, Nov. 13, 1911.
Phoenix, Ariz.

Dear Sir:—It may interest you to know that Mrs. L. B. Baptist of your city won the first prize for your state in our national recipe contest for October.

As you probably know, we have offered $500 per month to the housewives of America for original, practical recipes intended to reduce the high cost of living.

Thinking this may be of interest to your numerous readers, we give you below the recipe which brought one of these prizes to your city.

Very truly yours,
ARMOUR AND COMPANY,
ARIZONA

Mrs. L. B. Baptist, Phoenix—First prize.

Veal Loaf—Take one pound veal, one half pound pork, and run through meat chopper. Add one egg well beaten, two teaspoonfuls salt, one teaspoonful black pepper, dash of red pepper, two bay leaves chopped fine, one spoonful onion juice, two cups of bread crumbs, one-half cup sweet milk, and one medium sized pepper, chopped fine. Make into a loaf. Mix one-quarter teaspoonful of Armour's Extract of Beef with one cup of water and baste loaf every fifteen minutes until done.

A very pleasant afternoon was spent Saturday by the girls of the younger social set of the city at the home of the Misses Stella and Julie Sears.

Miss Wheeler intends departing for her home in Nevada next Friday; several affairs have been planned in her honor to occur in the meantime. The following young ladies attended the party given for Miss Wheeler yesterday. Miss Mildred Wheeler, guest of honor and the Misses George, Ainsworth, Jessop, Chalmers, Ely, Hawkins, Laird, Pickrell, Adams, Goldberg, Selma Goldberg, Hurley, Hocker, Stacy, Willis, Sloan, Dorris, Rena Dorris, Wilson, Goldman, Lewis, Marie Lewis, Melzer, Scars and Wheeler. Mrs. Latham, in the program, and the public is cordially invited to attend.

Representatives from the various women's clubs of the city, met at the Woman's club building on Thursday afternoon and elected committees to arrange for the entertainment of the Arizona Federation of women's clubs which will meet in Phoenix the latter part of January. A number of committees were elected and a local board of arrangements consisting of Mrs. J. H. Kibbey, chairman; Mrs. H. B. Wilkinson, vice chairman; Mrs. T. M. Elder, secretary; Mrs. Louis Melzer, treasurer. A large attendance is expected at the meeting of the federation from all over the state and the new building at the corner of First avenue and Bennett Lane will be none too large to accommodate the ladies who will be here. No one fears but that they will be adequately cared for by the local club members who have arranged for their entertainment in hand. These ladies are all energetic, progressive and well endowed with local pride so that the stranger within their gates is assured of excellent treatment.

Last winter a number of the best known ladies of Phoenix formed a Wednesday luncheon club and gave a number of luncheons in the homes of the various members. The afternoons were pleasantly spent in playing bridge. In the spring shortly before the closing of the social season because of the heated term, Madame Kibbey and Mrs. Richard Sloan had intended to entertain the club at the home of Mrs. J. H. Kibbey, but Mrs. Sloan was hurriedly called out of town and the luncheon was postponed. It was given Wednesday, however, and closes the series planned last winter. A beautiful, little pin was contested for each week and the lady with the highest score had the privilege of wearing the pin until some other member captured it. At the end of the season it was given "for keeps" as the boys say, to the bridge player who had the highest score for the entire time. This fortunate lady was Mrs. Sims Ely who is receiving the congratulations of her friends for her skill.

On Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. H. L. Latham of North Central avenue, entertained at an informal four o'clock tea for her cousin, Miss Dixie George. Miss George is here to spend the winter with the family of her uncle, Mr. Henry George. The following ladies of the younger social set, were Mrs. Latham's guests: Miss Dixie George, guest of honor, and the Misses Ainsworth, Jessop, Chalmers, Ely, Hawkins, Laird, Pickrell, Adams, Goldberg, Selma Goldberg, Hurley, Sloan, Dorris, Rena Dorris, Wilson, Goldman, Lewis, Marie Lewis, Melzer, Scars and Wheeler. Mrs. Latham is noted for the exquisitely dainty manner in which she entertains and invitations to her home are eagerly welcomed.

The first of the series of recitals to be given this season at the Arizona School of Music, will occur the coming Wednesday evening, November 22, when Carl R. Nuetzel will present some of his advanced vocal pupils in public recital. Among those to take part in the program are the Misses Anna Marie Luke, Irene Johnston, Helen Huberta Boyle, Mrs. C. D. Dameron, Mrs. Francis Redewell and Mrs. James C. Blaine. Piano pupils of Clem A. Towner, the Misses Hazel Creed, Edith Stephens, Blanche Lunbeck and Hazel DeMund will assist in the program, and the public is cordially invited to attend.

On Friday afternoon, the Misses Selma and Hazel Goldberg of 791 North Central avenue, entertained their young lady friends at luncheon. The Goldberg girls are popular members of the younger social set and entertain frequently during the winter.

when Carl R. Nuetzel will present some of his advanced vocal pupils in public recital. Among those to take part in the program are the Misses Anna Marie Luke, Irene Johnston, Helen Huberta Boyle, Mrs. C. D. Dameron, Mrs. Francis Redewell and Mrs. James C. Blaine. Piano pupils of Clem A. Towner, the Misses Hazel Creed, Edith Stephens, Blanche Lunbeck and Hazel DeMund will assist in the program, and the public is cordially invited to attend.

On Friday evening at the W. C. T. U. a number of students registered for the sewing, cooking and millinery classes which are to be held under the auspices of that organization. The work is similar to that carried on by the Y. W. C. A. in other cities. The tuition in these classes is small, $1.50 for ten lessons, and the opportunity is one that should not be overlooked by any woman who wishes to increase her knowledge of these useful arts. Each class will meet once a week and will be under the direction of Miss Flora Jacobs who is experienced in this work.

The members of the Woman's club are getting ready their gifts for the bazaar which is scheduled to occur on Tuesday, November the twenty-eighth at the club building. This fair is an annual event and is very generously patronized by the citizens of Phoenix. There are always various booths in which are sold refreshments, fancy work, candy, etc. The money thus obtained is used to pay any indebtedness there may be, buy furnishings or in any way that seems needful.

The teachers of Phoenix have formed an organization with Mr. Jantzen as president, Mr. Randall vice president, and Miss Williams secretary, to read books pertaining to school work. Bagley's Classroom Management is the book now under discussion and the first meeting was held at Central. Friday afternoon, Mr. Jantzen being absent on account of another meeting, the first gathering of the organization was conducted by Mr. Randall.

The Mission Study Class, composed of ladies from the various churches, will meet in the lecture room of the Baptist church tomorrow (Monday) afternoon. The meeting will begin at 2:30 o'clock, and all ladies are cordially invited to attend either as members of the class or as visitors. The ladies of the Christian church will have charge of the day's lesson and will also furnish the refreshments during the social hour.

Mrs. Roy Goodrich entertained a few of her friends informally on Thursday evening at cards. The game enjoyed was hearts and simple refreshments were served during the evening. Mrs. Goodrich is one of the popular ladies of the city and is always charming whether she is acting as hostess or guest.

The Friday club has rented a room in the Woman's club buildings and held its first meeting there last Friday. This is one of the oldest clubs in the city and is intended for the self culture of the club members. The life of Napoleon is the subject at present occupying the attention of the Friday club.

Miss Laura Dobbs who has been connected with the normal school at Tempe for several years, is spending a few days as the guest of Mrs. Carl Hayden. Miss Dobbs is just recovering from an illness which necessitated her going to the hospital.

The Woman's auxiliary of Trinity church will give a social tea at Mrs. Bennett Gough's home at 804 North Fourth avenue, on Wednesday afternoon from 2 to 5. The ladies will be pleased to welcome all friends who are interested in the welfare of the auxiliary or Trinity parish.

Mrs. A. W. Chamberlain of Denver arrived in the city Friday to spend the winter with her father and mother, General and Mrs. A. J. Sampson. Mrs. Chamberlain has spent several winters in Phoenix, and has a host of friends who are delighted to welcome her again.

On Friday afternoon, the Misses Selma and Hazel Goldberg of 791 North Central avenue, entertained their young lady friends at luncheon. The Goldberg girls are popular members of the younger social set and entertain frequently during the winter.

O. D. Gallegos, county supervisor and member of the development board of Arizona, was married to Epimelia Chavez at Rito Quemado, New Mexico, on November the twentieth. The couple will reside at St. Johns, Arizona.

Mrs. James H. McClintock returned to Phoenix Friday from an extended visit with friends in Oakland and other California coast points. Mrs. McClintock has been missed by her friends here who will be glad to know of her return home.

Mrs. Walter Talbot who had the misfortune to fall and bruise her face quite badly while coming down the steps from the grand stand, the last day of the fair, is able to be out again though there is still some discomfort.

coloration of the skin about the nose and eyes.

Miss Lila Hawkins who came down for fair week and for a visit with her friend Miss Helen Ely, has returned to her home in Prescott.

USE OF FRUIT IN JAPAN

The use of fruits in Japan was until recently limited to the upper classes, and the cultivation of fruit trees was not carried on as at the present day, though fruits growing wild in field or forest were gathered and offered for sale. A few fruit trees were grown by householders in their home gardens for private use, but, according to the Oriental Review, little attention was paid to their cultivation. The principal reason appears to have been the climate.

Although this is warm and moist, producing luxuriant vegetation and beautiful landscapes, yet it does not offer great advantages for the cultivation of fruit trees.

Fruits which have been cultivated from ancient days extensively enough to be grown in orchards or vineyards are oranges, pears, plums and grapes, and great attention has always been paid to the different varieties of each.

The plum was chiefly cultivated and prized for its blossoms, and large plum gardens abound in Japan, valued for their beauty and attractiveness during their flowering season, in January.

Such trees as the persimmon, peach, quince, apricot and plum, jujube and ginseng are often planted around the home or along the footpaths in rich fields, but these are for the most part seedlings and no special attention is paid to them.

Formerly there was no uniform and methodical system of fruit culture in Japan except for pears, oranges and grapes, but since 1887, when foreign fruit trees were first introduced, the method of culture according to scientific principles has been adopted.

The amount and value of oranges, peaches, plums, persimmons, pears and grapes produced in 1907-08 reached a surprisingly high figure and large quantities were shipped to the United States, Canada and China.

Pears and peaches, oranges, apples, date plums, quinces, pomegranates, apricots (Japanese and foreign), plums, jujube, sweet cherries, grapes, figs and gooseberries and walnuts and chestnuts are the fruits and nuts mostly appreciated and eaten in Japan.

IN THE GARDEN OF IRELAND

A literary shrine sacred to Tom Moore is the Vale of Avoca, situated in Wicklow, that county which is popularly described the Garden of Ireland. It is now proposed to erect a memorial there to the poet, and as the outcome of a public meeting the promoters of it consider that its erection in "the vale in whose bosom the bright waters meet" would be very appropriate.

It was while at Avoca that Moore wrote some of his best known melodies. Nature herself had supplied him quite recently a memorial of the bard in the form of an oak tree, "Tom Moore's tree," under whose shade he did most of his writing. A remnant of it only now survives, owing to the desire of tourists to carry away portions of it as souvenirs of "the poet of all circles and the idol of his own."—Pall Mall Gazette.

Rub a sore throat with BALLARD'S SNOW LINIMENT. One or two applications will cure it completely. Price 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle. Sold by Elvey & Hulet's Pharmacy.
